28th Annual International Congress on Veterinary Acupuncture 2002

Lihue, Hawaii, USA
21-24 August 2002

ISBN: 978-1-62276-310-8
Contents

Preface
Welcome from the President .......................................................... i
Welcome from the Program Committee ........................................ ii
IVAS Officers ................................................................. iii
Speakers ........................................................................ iv
Program ........................................................................ v

Oral Presentations
Ear Acupuncture and Map of the Horse (Peterman, U.) ................................. 1
Acupuncture – A History of Ideas (Bridgeman, S.) ........................................ 5
A Perspective of Japanese Acupuncture from Down Under: Adapting Meridian Acupuncture Diagnosis, Acupoints and Location Needle Techniques, Moxibustion and Tools to Veterinary Practice (Bridgeman, S.) ........................................... 17
Meridian Therapy and the Five Elements (Fleming, P.) ....................................... 33
The Central Projection and Sensory Innervation of Rat NeiGuan (Pericardium Meridian PC-6) Point (Chien, C.) ........................................... 53
Effects of Corticosteroid and Electroacupuncture on Experimental Spinal Cord Injury in Dogs (Nam, T.) ......................................................... 59
Effect of Acupuncture on Sedation in Horses (Luna, S.) ................................. 71
Laser Acupuncture in Treatment of Chronic Back Pain in Horses (Peterman, U.) ................................................................. 81
Acupuncture Meridians Affecting the Oral Cavity (Cebuliak, E.) .................. 89
Visceral Analgesic, Respiratory and Cardiovascular Effects of Electroacupuncture and Butorphanol in Mares: A Comparative Study Using Controlled Rectal Distension (Skarda, R.) ........................................... 109
A Holistic View of Chronic Disease with Special Consideration of Adaptation Syndrome and Disturbing Focus in Controlled Acupuncture (Peterman, U.) ................................................................. 123
Japanese Mushroom Therapies for the Treatment of Animal Diseases (Basko, I.) ......................................................... 141
Acupuncture Analgesia for Operation in Native Korean Goats (Kim, N.) ... 163
Effect of Acupuncture/Electroacupuncture on Gastric Pressure and Contraction Measured by Alternate Current Susceptometry and Manometry (Luna, S.) ................................................................. 171
Dr. Manaka and His Five Step Treatment Model of Acupuncture (Bridgeman, S.) ................................................................. 183
Toyohari Meridian Therapy Style of Acupuncture and Its Adaptation from Humans to Animals: A Review (Bridgeman, S.) 201

Roundtable Discussion (on a live horse) of the Traditional and Transpositional Points Surrounding the Tuber Coxae Area (May, K.) 213

Case Studies Using 5 Element Theory with a Focus on Japanese Needling Technique (Hartman, E.) 215

Japanese Meridian Therapy and the Eight Extraordinary Meridians (Fleming, P.) 217

The Channel Divergences in Practice: A Review (Bridgeman, S.) 227

Possible Blocks to an Effective Five Element Acupuncture Treatment (Fleming, P.) 241