TABLE OF CONTENTS

DIGITAL LEARNING SOLUTIONS FOR DIFFERENT GENERATIONS

- Generational Differences in Using Social Media in Politics ................................................................. 1
  Ari-Matti Auvinen
- Can Web 2.0 Bridge the Generation Gap? ................................................................................................. 6
  Gail E. Krovitz
- Technology-enhanced Learning for Creative Collaboration in Older Adults ................................................................. 9
  Pirkko Hyvonen, Margarida Romero, Elena Barbera
- Seniors at a Virtual Open Education University: A Web 2.0 Learning Service for Introducing Seniors to Social Web ......................................................................................................................... 15
  Maria Paula Silva, Maria João Spilker, Lauriza Nascimento, Lina Morgado
- Virtual Mobility and Lifelong Learning: The New Challenge for Higher and Continuing Education Institutions ................................................................................................................................. 21
  Barbara Class, Ahidoba De Franchi, Alfredo Soeiro
- Personalisation in e-Learning – The Key for Success in Learning in Later Life ................................................................. 27
  Sonia Hetzner, Eline Leen
- Cross-Generational Approach for the Integration of Formal, Non-Formal and Academic Education Especially as an Educational Model for Generation Y and X ................................................................................................. 33
  Christian-Andreas Schumann, Rainer Marr, Jana Weber, Claudia Tittmann, Kristina Lerant
- Analysis of Distance Learning Master’s Degree Studies at Vilnius Gediminas Technical University (Lithuania) with Special Emphasis on Distinctive Students Age Groups ................................................................. 39
  Natalija Lepkova, Silva Rimkuviene, Nerija Banaitiene, Mindaugas Krutinis
- Trav – Integrating Learning Objects in Social Collaboration and Developing User Support ................................................................. 45
  Hedva Vital, Alan Bruce
- Generational Distinctiveness in the Time Use of Working Distance Learners ................................................................. 53
  Bill McNeill
- The Gap between "Generation Y" and Lifelong Learners in Programming Courses – How to Bridge between Different Learning Styles? ................................................................................................. 59
  Peter Mozelius
- Gap between Generations in Using Netspeak as a New Language Form of Information and Communication Technology: What is Really Going on at Zagreb School of Economics and Management ................................................................................................. 69
  Tihana Djuras, Karmela Aleksic-Maslac, Jagoda Poropat Darrer
- E-Scouts: Intergenerational Learning in Blended Environments and Spaces (ILBES) for Social Inclusion ......................................................................................................................................................... 76
  Christoph Kaletka, Bastian Pelka, Andrea Diaz, Gabriel Rissolu, Milvia Rastrelli
- Past and Present – History, ICT and Intergenerational Learning ................................................................................................. 82
  Alan Bruce, Lucia Petrescu, Anca Colibaba
- “I Have No Idea How to Use the Keyboard”: Chronotopes of the Digital Divide ................................................................................................. 88
  Luísa Aires, Cristina Ponte, José Azevedo
- Music for Two Generations: Intergenerational Intervention through Music and Internet Technologies ................................................................................................. 92
  LoukasKoutsikos, Argyro Manthou, Anna Mitillinaou, Efthalia Mouchtari, Kostantinos Simotas, Eugenia Troullou, Konstantina Tsampa, Gouskos Dimitris, Meimaris Michael

DIGITAL LEARNING FOR DIFFERENT GENERATIONS: CHALLENGING THE TRIVIAL APPROACHES

- Generation Y – Myth or Reality? Reflections on Technology Pedagogy and Academic Identity ................................................................. 98
  Laurence Solkin, Neal Sumner
- The Clash between Generation X and Generation Y: More Myth than Fact? ................................................................................................. 103
  Hélène Raimond
- Digital Students – Is There a Gap? ................................................................................................................................. 110
  Diana Andone
Reconsidering "Gen Y" & Co: From Minding the Gap to Overcoming It
Emanuele Rapetti, Lorenzo Cantoni

ICT SUPPORTED LEARNING: METHODOLOGY, CONCEPT AND PRACTICE

Linking Schools with Science: How Innovative Tools can Increase the Effectiveness of Science Teaching in the Classroom
Teresa Holocher-Erl, Barbara Kieselinger, Claudia Magdalena Fabian

Professional Learning on-the-move: Time to MOVE-ON
Elena Avatangelo, Ilidiko Mazay, Aristotelis Alexopoulos, Emanuela Ovecin, Victoria Damyanova

Quiz em Movimento – A Game to Stimulate the Intellect while Fighting a Sedentary Lifestyle
Barbara S. R. Amorim, Pedro M. O. Martins

Blended-learning Approach in CAAD: Past Experience and Literature Review for RD&T Project Module on Architectural Representation and Communication Focused in Teaching Architecture and Art
Pedro Neto, Andrea Vieira, Bruno Moreira, João Sarabando, Lígia Maria Ribeiro

A Delphi Study on the Competencies of 21st Century Teachers
Heeok Heo, Kyu Yong Kim, Jeonghee Seo

The Pathway to Inquiry-based Teaching
Franz X. Bogner, Sofoklis Sotiriou

Digital Literacy in the European Union: A Contribution to the State-of-the-Art
Elana Santana Lisboa, Clara Pereira Coutinho

Future Challenges for Electronic Performance Support Systems to Facilitate Lifelong Learning of Both Digital Native and Digital Immigrant Adults in the Same Work Settings
Mahterem Dindar, Mehmet Kesim

Computer Science Teaching Certificate via Distance Learning: Career Retraining and Further Education
Eliu Zur, Tamara Benaya, Tamar Vilner

Assuring Best Practice in Technology-enhanced Learning Environments
Mike Keppell, Gordon Sadday, Natasha Hard

Investigating the Effects of Learning Management Systems on Student and Faculty Outcomes
Beth Rubin, Ron Fernandes, Maria D. Averinou

Web Metrics: Evaluation of an Environmental Education Portal Using Google Analytics
Costas Gavelakis, Georgia Liarakou, Apostolos Kostas, Costas Tsolakidis

Competence Modelling for Lifelong Learners
Christian M. Stracke, Cornelia Helmstedt, Xenia Kuhn

A Response to Diversity – Modelling a New Pedagogical Approach to Facilitation
Janet Macdonald, Anne Campbell

Competence Development: Face-to-Face versus B-learning Environments
Silvia O. S. Ferrão, Ramón Sanguino Galván

Innovation Alliance
Stina Meyer Larsen, Susanne Tellereup

Adopting Emerging Technologies: Bridging the Gap in Preparing Distance Educators for the 21st Century
Lisa Marie Biaschke, Stella Porto

Unexploited Opportunities of a New Form of “Coeducation”
Andras Balogh, András Benedek, Judit Videkine-Remenyi

I-Space – Learning by Developing Across Organizations, Educations and Generations
Karin Bryderup Jensen, Anna Maj Stride Geyst, Susanne Tellereup

The Challenges for Mature Life-Long Learners: Insights from Video Diaries of First-time Distance Students
Mark Brown, Helen Hughes, Natasha Hard, Mike Keppell, Liz Smith

ICT SUPPORTED LEARNING: METHODOLOGY, AND THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVE

Learning by Remixing: Supporting the Development of Scientific Multimodal Literacy in the New Media Age
Ole Christian Brudvik
Interaction Equivalency Theorem and Design of Online Courses – A Preliminary Research Proposal

Pedro Barbosa Cabral, António Quintas-Mendes ............................................................................................................................... 254

Meskov Valery, Smirnova Irina, Mamchenko Anna ............................................................................................................................... 259

DISTANCE AND E-LEARNING POLICY AND STRATEGY

The Push-Pull Effects of Educational Policy, e-Learning and the Evolution of Platforms and Devices:
Reflected on Ten Years at the Helm in a Small Higher Education Institution

Jim Devine ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 266

The Cambridge Conference on Open, Distance and E-Learning: Professional Development across the Generations

Anne Gaskell, Roger Mills, Alan Tait ......................................................................................................................................................... 272

LEARNER CHARACTERISTICS, NEEDS AND PERCEPTIONS

Learner Characteristics in Online Distance Education

Joachim Stöter, Olaf Zawacki-Richter, Christine Von Prümmer ............................................................................................................................... 276

Students' and Teachers' Perceptions of an Innovative Blended Learning Environment – Case Porvoo Campus

Kitte Marttinen, Teema Patala, Elina Ketonen, Reijo Ruusunen, Kirsti Lonka............................................................................................................................... 282

Perceptions of Progress: Learning Analytics and Social Learning Behaviours

Deborah Everhart ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 288

Does Familiarity Breed Contempt? Examining Distance Learning Students' Perceptions

Dale Kirby, Michael K. Barbour, Dennis B. Sharpe ......................................................................................................................................................... 295

Podcasting – Closing Gaps between Learning and Technology

Cristina Almeida Aguiar ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 302

Designing Sustainable Online Education Environments: A Department Perspective

Tor Söderström, Anna Frohm, Ulf Stödberg, Anette Törnquist ......................................................................................................................................................... 308

Readiness of Students to Use Mobile Technologies for Learning at Eurasian National University

Daniyar Sapargaliyev ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 315

Do Men Learn in Order to Earn? Motives for Lifelong Learners to Choose Web-based Courses and the Relationship with Age, Gender, Parenthood and Rate of Studies

Ron Mahieu, Simon Wolming ......................................................................................................................................................... 323

SOCIAL WEB AND COLLABORATIVE LEARNING

Out of Chaos Emerges a New Order: Student Blogging and Communities of Learning

Steve Wheeler, Peter Yeomans, Oliver Quinlan ......................................................................................................................................................... 329

Online Learning and Collaboration in the Cloud

Les Pang, Stella Porto ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 334

Collaborative Learning for University Studies

Airina Volungeviciene, Margarita Tereseviciene, Kristina Mejeryte-Narkeviciene ......................................................................................................................................................... 339

Higher-Order Thinking Strategies in Learning Blogs

Gila Kurtz, Noemy Porath ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 346

Learning with Facebook Groups

Hagit Meishar-Tal, Gila Kurtz, Efrat Pieterse ......................................................................................................................................................... 351

An e-Assessment Model for Supporting Collaborative Knowledge Building in a Social Software

Ole Christian Brudvik, Anders Nome ......................................................................................................................................................... 357

Fear of F-lying: An Ageing Teacher Questioning Her Roles Using Facebook to Create a Community of Autonomous Learners

Patricia Huion ............................................................................................................................................................................................... 364

SIGNIFICANT EUROPEAN AND INTERNATIONAL E-LEARNING INITIATIVES

The Future of ICT for Learning and its Impact on Open Learning Generations

Stefania Aceto, Claudio Dondi, Daniela Proli ......................................................................................................................................................... 367
Open Educational Resources in Secondary, Higher and Nonformal Education in Non-English Speaking Countries

Svetlana Knyazeva, Dendev Badarch

NETCU: Analysing e-Learning Networked Curricula in Europe: The Importance of Legal and Quality Assurance Aspects

Ana Paula Martinho, Sandra Caeiro, Lina Morgado, Alda Pereira, Fred Truyen, Georg Ubachs

Virtual Schooling for All Ages – The News from VISCED

Paul Bacsich, Barry Phillips, Sara Frank Bristow, Giles Pepler, George Watley

Sharing Good Practice from European Science Education Projects: Xplore Health and UniSchooLabs as Part of the Scientix Platform

Premysl Velek, Agueda Gras-Velasquez, Barbara Schwarzenbacher, Evita Tasiopoulou

The National Teacher Training between 2005 and 2010: The New Capes and the Open University of Brazil

Celso José Da Costa, Maria Renata Da Cruz Duran, Tatiana De Lourdes Massaro

Methodology for Strategic Planning of e-Learning Implementation in Developing Countries

Blaženka Divjak, Nina Begicevic Redep

WORK BASED E-LEARNING

Relationship between Learning Styles and Leadership Styles: A New Perspective to Encourage Learning in the Workplace

Reinhard C. Bernsteiner, Peter J. MiRsKi

An Innovative E-Mentoring Program for Graduate Students in an Online Program

Rana Khan

Effectiveness of Training for Unemployed and Links between ICT Training and Employability: The Case of Moscow State University of Economics, Statistics and Informatics

Tatiana Dubrova, Natalia Dmitrievskaya, Oksana Shulaeva

OPEN EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES AND PRACTICES

Creativity and Social Innovation in the Open and Unpredictable Landscape of ICT and Learning

Rina Østergaard, Elsebeth Korsgaard Sorensen

Open Educational Practices: A Bottom-up Approach in Latin America and Europe to Develop a Common Higher Education Area

António Moreira Teixeira, Cristobal Cobo, Marcelo Maina, Ilaria Mascitti, Cristina Stefanelli

Identification of Stakeholders for Quality Assurance of Open Educational Resources (OER)

Ebba Ossiannilsson, Ari-Matti Auvinen

"Open Learning 2.0?" Aligning Student, Teacher and Content for Openness in Education

Norm Friesen, Judith Murray, Gordon Tarzwell

QUALITY AND ASSESSMENT

Lifelong Learning and the Development of a Critical Technology in Higher Education

Antonella Pocre, Annalisa Iovine, Laura Corcione

Designing for Online Dialogue and Reflection among Adult Students in Collaborative Online Learning Environments – What is the Success Formula?

Anne Mette Bjørgen, Egil Weider Hartberg, Line Kristiansen, Vegard Vålnes Meland

ICT Enhanced Learning – Benefits and Didactic Challenges in a Language and Communication Course for Adult Immigrants

Maria Greek, Kari Mari Jonsmoen

Quality-Oriented Modelling of Processes as an Approach to Success in Managing e-Learning Projects

Michal Kucharski

SELECTED INSTITUTIONAL INNOVATION CASES

The Next Generation: Transformation to a 21st Century University via Core Strategic Projects

Dietmar K. Kennepohl, Rory McGreal, Cindy Ives, Brian Stewart
Ontological Experiences from a University's Change Management of its Online Learning Initiative and Associated Continuing Professional Development Opportunities for Academics ................................................................. 478
Geoffrey Goolnik

Online Learning Opportunities and Challenges: The Case of Iowa State University ................................................................. 484
Ana-Paula Correia, Julio C. Rodriguez

POSTERS

Interactive e-Learning as a Tool to Overcome Socio-Economic and Age-Related Disadvantages ................................................................. 490
Sabine Stöcker-Segre, Yossi Etra

Case Study – An Evaluation of the Usage of ICT Tools in a Distance Learning Course by Mature Students ................................................................. 494
Anna Campbell, Kate Reader, Evelyn Reisinger, Lisa Migo

Willingness of People of Different Ages to Learn Online – Taking Guizhou Cadre Online Learning School as Example ................................................................. 497
Tang Huilin, Li Yuebo

Intergenerational Exchanges and Technology: The Young and the Elderly Learning from Each Other with Technology ................................................................. 501
Gemma Tur Ferrer

Generation X, Y and Z: Challenges for Teaching and Learning ................................................................................................................................. 506
Elisa Santana Lisboa, Clara Pereira Coutinho

Divergent or Convergent? Generational Learning Paths in Online Higher Education ................................................................. 512
Nancy J. Coleman

Blended Learning as the Way to Improve the Quality of Life for Older People ................................................................................................................................. 516
Olgja Grishina, Elena Sidorova

LEAGE: Learning Games for Older Europeans ................................................................................................................................. 519
Elena Avatangelou, David Oyarzun, Myrto Maria Ranga, Unai Diaz Orueta, Vesna Dolnicar, Vivian Vergouwen, Henk Herman Nap

The Blog as a Generative Environment for Intergenerational Learning ................................................................................................................................. 521
Barbara Baschiera

A European Strategy to Implement Adults' Informal Learning for Intergenerational Creative Experiences ................................................................................................................................. 526
Juliana Elisia Raffaghelli

The Development of Online Assessment in the Moodle Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) as a Replacement for Traditional Written Assessment ................................................................................................................................. 532
Michael O'Rourke

Approaches to Learning in the Digital Era ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 536
Francesco Agrusti, Cinzia Angelini

Working Class Women's Interest and Motivation for Lifelong Learning ................................................................................................................................. 538
Eva Wigforss, Shirley Booth

Pedagogical and Learning Outcomes after a Webinar in University Students ................................................................................................................................. 543
Renata Barros, Maria Teresa Campos, Pedro Carvalho, Vítor Hugo Teixeira, Rui Chilro, André Moreira, Patricia Padrão, Pedro Moreira

New Communication Strategies for the Recovery of Pupils Difficulties: The Project SOS Students ................................................................................................................................. 546
Alessandra Anichini, Isabel De Maurissens, Andrea Nardi

European Dental Schools' Provision of Lifelong Learning Step 2: Design of an e-Module for Adult Learners ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 553
Argyro Kavudella, Ioannis Tzoutzas, Anastasia Kossioni, Kostas Tsiplakis

Learning Design Skills ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 557
Nataliya Toncheva, Dragomir Marchev, Borislav Borisov, Veselka Radeva

Using the Information and Communication Technologies in the Activities with Students – A Goal Related with Challenges and Opportunities ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 563
Angela Tesileanu, Eugen Stoica

E-Learning for Various Students' Categories ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 569
Alexey Kozlov, Tatiana Kozlova

How Universities Should Collaborate with Companies and What They Should Learn from Hackers? ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 572
Andrzej Wodecki

ELENA – Early e-Learning of Neighbouring Languages ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 575
Stefaan Terrier, Derk Sassen, Marcus Specht

Building Personal Learning Networks – Support for Foreign Language Teachers ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 578
Anca Călibaba, Stefan Călibaba, Monica Vlad